"The world looks better from behind a smile," says "Cheer," a trade magazine distributed by a wholesale envelope company, which says nothing in the magazine is copyrighted. "If there is any good here, we want to share it," says the publication.

A laugh is just like sunshine, it freshens all the day and it tips the peak of life with light, and drives the clouds away.

A laugh is just like music, it lingers in the heart and where its melody is heard, the ills of life depart.

A laugh is just like music; it makes happy thoughts come crowding through, its joyful notes to greet.

Friendship is just like money, easier made than kept.

A modern man is one who drives a mortgage car over a bond financed highway on a credit gasoline card.

Total abstinence is easier and better than perfect moderation; it shows consideration for those to whom moderation is hard.

Conceit is just as natural a thing to most of us as a center is to a circle.

All that is great in man comes through work. It is a law of nature that the moment activity ceases anywhere, there a retrograde process sets in.

The moment we cease to use our faculties, that moment they begin to deteriorate.

A person who retires with an income sufficient for a living, and has a good hobby and works at it, is better off than a man who retires with millions and spends his time in idleness.

It is always a mistake to command, when you are not sure you will be obeyed.

"Whoever makes two ears of corn, or two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before, deserves better of mankind, and does more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together." —Swift.

There are some people who cannot take a joke. Everything is funny as long as it is happening to somebody else.

If a man can remember what he worried about last week, he has a pretty good memory.

The modern business man does not apologize because he makes a profit. He is in business to make a living and to have a few of the finer things of life. But he does not want his money except in exchange for a fair service or for goods of equal value.

If a man does not give good value for money received he cannot long stay in business, hold a job, or retain his self respect.

For centuries men have been trying different plans for making money. It has gradually been demonstrated that there is no permanent profit in anything in which there is not a fair exchange of commodities or service.

Generally by specialization, by concentrating all their energies and thoughts on one field of products, or endeavors, the smartest men have found that they can make more money than by spreading their talent over a wide range.

There is an old saying, that he who serves the public best, serves himself best. This is a wise provision of nature, because a man might become tired of serving the public, but he seldom grows tired of serving himself.

Whether we admit it or not, the most important person in the world to most of us is ourselves.

What is the sweetest word in the English language, leaving out the name of Deity? Is it mother, love, peace, wife, child, or home?

Without all of these life would hardly be worth living.

Strife is one of the most hideous of all words. There is a legend that Hercules was once going along a narrow road, when a strange looking animal appeared threateningly before him.

Hercules struck the animal with his club and passed on; but he was greatly surprised soon afterwards to see the same animal approach yet more threateningly, now three times as large as before.

Hercules hit it faster and more furiously, but the harder and more often he struck it, the larger and more frightful it grew, until the monster completely blocked the road.

Then Pallas, the goddess, appeared to Hercules and told him not to strike the monster again. "His name is 'Strife,'" she said. "Let him alone and he soon will become smaller and smaller, even smaller than he was at first and eventually he will disappear."

All strife and quarreling will cease if one of the quarrelers is

The things people prize of greatest worth, are just the common things of earth—the rain and the sunshine; the grass and the trees; the flowers and the birds and the busy bees.

Then there are the stars that twinkle, the clouds that pass, the mountains and the valleys and the rivers broad and the open sea.

Oh God is here on every hand, if we only look and see. His beauty is all around, if we only open our eyes and see. His voice is heard on every corner with the singing of the birds, the murmur of the trees, the patter of little feet, and the moaning of the cow.

If we are fortunate to enjoy these common things of life we will have pleasure every day without cost or price, except to give thanks to God from whom all good things come.

For most schools in Texas, including those of Comanche County, this is the last vacation week before school is resumed next Monday.

The four public school systems which are now operating in Comanche County, along with the homes and churches, are the most important institutions in their communities and are among the biggest business institutions.

Teachers' salaries, although they should be higher, make up one of the biggest payrolls of any establishment in the county.

The budget for the Comanche Independent School District for the year exceeds a quarter of a million dollars.

The faculties of the four school systems in Comanche County constitute the most highly educated group of people in the county from a technical standpoint. Each one is required to have a minimum of a bachelor's degree and perhaps most of them have master degrees.

As far as we know, there is not a person in Comanche County holding a Ph.D. degree, although there are several natives of the county holding such degrees.

As far as we know, Comanche will not have a beginning teacher this year, although we have not checked this for accuracy.

Most of the present teachers have had more than 20 years experience.

Under the efficient direction of Superintendent S. H. Fletcher, a very attractive handbook for Comanche High School has been published under the name, "The Indian Hand Book."

The handbook was designed mostly for use of high school students and each of them will be given a copy.

The "Foreword" in the book brings this out more fully and reads as follows:

"Students, this handbook of instructions and information has been prepared for you so that you may become more intimately acquainted with your school; so that you may become more familiar with the courses of instruction; and so that you may have a guide in preparing your program."

"You will find answers to many questions, which will arise regarding certain rules and regulations of your school."

"New students will find in this handbook a great amount of information relative to attendance, graduation requirements, courses, report cards, excuses, regulations and the like."

"Students are urged to discuss their problems with the principal as they arise. It is the desire of the administration to make student's year in Comanche pleasant and as profitable as possible.—S. H. Fletcher, Superintendent; J. E. Lightfoot, Principal."

The Board of Education elected by the people: C. Swearingin, president; A. E. ertson, vice president; D. Smith, secretary; Henry man, H. M. Cauley, John B. and Dr. James Sluder.

All students will be required to memorize the American Creed written by William Tyler and adopted by the people of America as follows:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in public, a sovereign nation in many sovereign states."

Security Benefits In County Monthly Income of $60,869 than three times as many were receiving monthly security benefits in Comanche County as of 1959. The monthly payments first became available in 1957.

Released by Glen McRee, Representative, Security Administration, show that as of the 1960, 1,246 people in Comanche County were receiving a monthly benefit of $60,869 a month, compared with 377 people receiving a benefit before. These figures do not include those people who were suspended because they were returned to work and were too much to permit.

Increases in Comanche County result largely from coverage of semi-employed farmers beginning 1955.

Crotalaria In Feed Grains

by O. D. Johnston, Office Mgr. Comanche County ASC

The following information concerning findings with regard to feed mixtures containing crotalaria seed was received at this office recently:

"Crotalaria seed in mixed feed have been found poisonous to livestock and poultry. The Food and Drug Administration has run some tests and found that as little as two grains of crotalaria per pound of feed produces some toxicity. The Department's grain grading service found crotalaria seed in about 10 percent of samples of soybeans, and in about 3 percent of the samples of corn in a preliminary survey of inspected receipts from southeastern States in early 1960. These seeds seem to be a problem in corn only when it is harvested with a picker-sheller. Mostly these seed in grain come from volunteer plants. Some commercial feed mixers have issued notices that they will not buy corn, soybeans or grain sorghum in which there are any crotalaria seed."

Library Lines

Thirteen students have just completed a 6 weeks course in charcoal drawing sponsored by the Comanche Public Library. The course was instructed by Mrs. C. W. Gray, assisted by Mrs. Lee Jackson Bowers, Mrs. Ben Doyle Sudderth, and Mrs. Shirley Tackett.

Fifty-five drawings will be on exhibition next Saturday morning from 9:00 until 12:00. Parents and friends of the children exhibiting are urged to attend along with the general public.

Mrs. Gray is most anxious for everyone to see what the children have accomplished in such a short course and reports that the class was most cooperative, attentive, and appreciative.

Enrolled in the class were Mike Tate of Tyler, grandson of Mrs. Lee Tate, Dirk and Gray Jolink, Lynn Brown, Dennis Prater, Marsha Wilkerson, Freddie Sullivan, Paula Johnson, Barbara Hilliard, Leslie Hallmark, Janet Meyers, Dina Baxter, and Phyllis Lopes.

Mrs. Ninnie Baird, Founder Of Nation's Largest Independent Bakery, Baked First Loaf In '08

Mrs. Ninnie L. Baird, who founded the nation's largest independent bakery operation, first learned the art of baking good bread as a girl in her native Tennessee.

Born May 23, 1869 near Trenton, Tennessee, she was orphaned at an early age. She was reared by an aunt who lived near Trenton. Under her aunt's direction, she learned of all the work and skill—and care—that goes into the baking of a good loaf of bread.

But it wasn't until years later—in 1908 to be exact—that these baking skills were to be put to work for her family and launch her on a career that was to make her name and her bread a household word in many parts of Texas.

At 17, she married W. A. Baird, and shortly afterward they moved to Fort Worth, where they operated a restaurant for several years.

In those days, Mrs. Baird baked all the bread for her family. Often she baked more bread than she needed and took extra loaves to her neighbors as gifts.

The neighbors liked her baking and soon asked for the privilege of buying her bread.

Then, when Mr. Baird became too ill to work, she recalled a question that neighbors had been asking for some time: "Mrs. Baird, can you spare an extra loaf of bread?"

She gathered her brood about her, assigned tasks, and made every day baking day.

The oldest son, Deward, 16, became first assistant baker to his mother, and the three younger boys, Hoyt, Roland, and C. B., became "route men", serving their routes on foot and carrying their piping hot bread in baskets. The eldest daughter, Bessie, as first assistant housekeeper, was charged with the responsibility of the younger girls, Lorine,

See, mommy,
I didn't forget!

Marjorie and Ruth.

The family gave no thought to naming the loaf, but their customers, by referring to it from the very first as "Mrs. Baird's Bread," gave it the name it has borne ever since.

After the death of Mr. Baird in 1912, the family did not falter. "If we're going to get along, we've got to bake more," Mrs. Baird said.

From a hotel, Mrs. Baird purchased a second-hand, wood-burning commercial oven—capacity 40 loaves. The purchase price was seventy-five dollars—and Mrs. Baird paid twenty-five dollars in cash and the rest in bread and rolls.

One neighbor told another about "Mrs. Baird's Bread" and before long the demand became so great that the family had to expand its operation. A horse and delivery wagon were purchased and a little wooden building to house the baking plant was built in the back yard of the Baird home on Washington Street.

But the demand continued to grow, and by the time of World War I, it was obvious that the little baking plant would have to be replaced if this demand was to be met. So Mrs. Baird and her family—the sons were grown by then—built their first real bakery and began selling bread through grocery stores.

Down through the years, the fame of Mrs. Baird and her bread has continued to spread throughout the length and breadth of Texas. Today, bakeries in Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Abilene, Victoria, Lubbock, Waco and Austin serve the greater part of Texas with Mrs. Baird's Bread, and a plant in Fort Worth is devoted exclusively to baking cakes.

It's still a family operation—sons and grandsons not only manage the business operation but also directly supervise and control each day's baking. And the guiding force behind this giant operation is a white-haired, soft-spoken woman who over a half century ago set out to bake the best loaf of bread she could—Mrs. Ninnie L. Baird.

and justice for all."

The Comanche High School Song was written in 1932 by Carol Black, who was graduated from Comanche High School in May of that year.

His father was Carol Black Sr. who was Cotton Belt Agent at Comanche when that railroad discontinued operation here about the time his son wrote the School Song. Carol, Jr. moved away from Comanche with his family a few months later when his father accepted another position with the Cotton Belt in East Texas.

The School Song:
"Comanche High School

It Keeps the Golden Rule
In All Dixie Land
There's None Quite So Grand
As Our Own Dear High School
They Say That Days
Will Come
When We Are Far Away
But Wherever We Stray
We'll Come Back Some Day
To Our Own Dear
Comanche High School."

We do not know where Carol is today, but perhaps somebody in Comanche does, and we ought to invite him to come back some day.

There have been some changes made in determining the school honors.

The new rules for determining the honor graduates are as follows:

1. Grades of all four years of high school will be averaged.
2. The Junior and Senior years of work must have been done in Comanche High School.
3. Physical Education grades are not to be counted in the average.
4. Grade average on courses counted will consist of listing one grade for each 1/2 unit earned.

Students enrolled in Comanche High School must meet the following minimum requirements:

1. 4 units of English.
2. Two units of Mathematics.
3. 2 1/2 units of Social Science; 1 unit of World History; 1 unit of American History; 1/2 unit of Civics, which must include an extensive study of the Constitutions of the United States and Texas.
4. Two units in Laboratory Science (2 years of Vocational Agriculture; or 2 years of Foreign Language may be accepted as an alternate for 1 year of Science. On such basis, the remaining science must be Biology, Chemistry, or Physics.)
5. Additional electives to total 18 credits. 2 units may be in Physical Education; 1/2 unit will be allowed by Physical Education each year.

Four years of residence work in an accredited high school shall be required for graduation from Comanche High School, with at least the last semester at Comanche High School.

An exception to having been at Comanche the entire last semester will be made when a family moves into the Comanche School District intact, and a student must live with his family for economic reasons. Even then the student must be able to fit the schedule.

Students will not be permitted to participate in graduation exercises unless all requirements for graduation have been satisfied.

A Freshman in Comanche High School is a first year student from Elementary School, or a student with fewer than 3 students.

A Sophomore in Comanche High School is a student with 3-6 1/2 credits.

A Junior is a student with 7-10 1/2 credits.

A Senior is a student with 11 or more credits who will be able to graduate at the end of the school year.

Student classifications do not change at mid-term and applies to all curricular and extra-curricular activities.

Married students may attend Comanche High School for academic purposes only. They will not be allowed to participate in any phase of extra-curricular activities.

Any person marrying during the school year will be removed from extra-curricular activities immediately.

Students who expect to attend college are instructed to confer with the principal to see that they are meeting the requirements of the college which they expect to attend.

It is impossible for the principal to anticipate which college a student will attend; it is the student's responsibility to check his record in the office. Parents are urged to co-operate with the school in this matter.

Parents are urged to look into bad grades in Citizenship. In many cases poor grades are caused by poor citizenship and conduct.

Subject loads of Comanche High School students will be set as follows:

Freshmen: 4 solid courses, plus either P.E. or competitive sports; 1/2 unit of Driver's Education may be taken in addition to those

Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors must take the following loads with no exceptions except those listed:

1. Solid Course may be added to the above under the following conditions:
1. If an average of 85 was maintained the preceding year in all solid work with no course averaging less than 80.
2. Senior students are allowed 5 solid courses if they have failed and are needed for graduation.

Effective September 1, 1960, correspondence courses from Texas Tech or The University of Texas will be accepted only when a new student moves into the Comanche Independent School District and scheduling conflicts make it impossible for a student to get necessary work. Even if this circumstance exists, it must be approved by the principal.

Comanche High School has very few fees. Special fees during the regular school session are as follows: Band uniform rental, per year $5.00; School-owned band instruments per month $1.00 or $9 per year.

When work books for individual classes are used, they will be paid for by students.

This past summer a fee was charged for those attending Summer School.

ELTON McDONALDS WILL BE HONORED WITH HOUSEWARMING

Mr. and Mrs. Elton McDonald will be honored with a housewarming at their home Saturday August 27, at 7:30 p.m.

All friends and neighbors are invited to attend.

D. G. HENSON DIES AT DE LEON HOME

D. G. Henson, 52, died at his home in De Leon on August 10. Burial was in De Leon Cemetery.

Mr. Henson, a native of Kaufman County, was an employee of the Howard Butane Company, and had been a resident of De Leon for 13 years. He is survived by his widow and four children.

Rest Home Opened

A 16-room rest home has been opened in the Saylor Hotel at Goldthwaite by Mrs. Pearl Hickman and son, Tom. The remaining 35 rooms in the former hotel building will be fitted for the rest home as needed.

Local Police Chief Halts Brief Crime Spree Here

Quick work by Police Chief John Shook ended a brief crime spree of a 14 year old youth Friday Aug. 12.

It all began earlier in the week when the 14 year old youth, from Holdenville, Oklahoma, selling magazine subscriptions for his father, decided to boost his sales by passing forged checks, obtaining signatures from his route book. The checks ranged from $1.50 to $3.00.

Several reports were received from the bank of checks being received signed by deceased persons and well known residents of Comanche.

A tip from a local man ended in the arrest of the youth in the 200 block of East Central as the youth was trying to catch a ride out-of-town.

The youths father was arrested later during the day when he returned to his apartment. Both the father and the youth were released to the county.

School Lunch Rooms Provide Balanced Diet For Students

Arts Rachel, Comanche Lunchroom Supervisor

we neglecting the growth development of our most important crop—our children?

we give a lot of thought to feeding our livestock. We are quite well versed on the mineral and vitamin needs of livestock.

often we fail to give the careful attention to the needs of our children—especially the teen-agers.

Extensive surveys by colleges, universities and the United States Department of Agriculture point out that many growth and health defects among our teen-agers stem directly from improper eating habits.

could be due in some degree to the fact that many parents and teen-agers are unaware of the extra food needs of the teen years.

nutritionists are focusing attention on the too-little-known fact that the nation's 18 million teen-agers require from 30 to 50 per cent more of certain vital nutrients than their parents. Among these are high quality protein, minerals and vitamins, which can be obtained through a diet centered around meat, milk and other nutritious foods.

A well-balanced diet is essential to proper body development and also for the extra energy needed for the fast pace of school children today.

An unbalanced diet, heavy with starches and sweets, might satisfy the increased appetites but it will not do a good job of building youngsters into adults.

Many teen-agers no doubt look on nutrition as a pretty dull subject when related to themselves. The importance of protein in feeding-out livestock would likely catch the attention of farm youth more quickly than the importance of protein to their own growth and development.

This is something of a paradox because one of the strongest selling points in regard to the meat from that livestock is its richness as a source of high-quality protein for human consumption.

The nutritionists are approaching the problem of teen-age eating habits by showing that good looks and beauty, energy and pep—and the popularity that results therefrom—quite often begin at the table.

The vivacious teen-age girl with clear skin, bright eyes, sparkling teeth, glistening hair and good figure is the girl who is eating right. Still, how many people realize this? Those looking for the secret formula to her attractive appearance and popularity would surely reconsider such things as good taste in clothes, make-up, hair-styles, etc.

But that is only part of the formula. The cosmetics counter provides some of the ingredients. But, it appears that the really "secret" ingredients are those that are obtained at the meat counter, with vegetables and fruit or in other words a balanced meal three times per day.

Proper foods provide healthy blood, bones, skin and muscles; assure normal growth and body processes; and supply energy for alertness and activity. Unexciting as they sound, these are the fundamentals of feminine beauty and masculine good looks.

Just as the potentially pretty girl will fall short of her possibilities if she does not eat right, so will the talented athlete lack coordination if his body is not getting the essential nutrients.

Also, the brightest "brains" in the classroom will fail to achieve the maximum of their abilities when poor diets make them listless and take the edge off their power of concentration.

While the teen-age boy generally bats below par nutritionally, his problem mostly is that of not getting enough of the right foods. He has no real aversions to eating. Therefore, it is up to his parents to see that his appetite is satisfied with a balanced plate of meat, fruit, vegetables, and milk.

The teen-age girl on the other hand, is quite often extremely weight-conscious and has a yen for fad-diets and skipped meals.

Dr. Pauline Berry Mack, who has conducted some of the most extensive family nutrition studies in this country, says the teen-age girl's mother would run her a close second for this dubious distinction of being the poorest-fed member of the American family today. Dr. Mack is dean and director of research, College of Household Arts and Sciences, Texas Women's University, Den-

MRS. KENNETH DODD
... nee Miss Carol Dickey

As school lunch people, we urge every parent to start their little first grader to school with a good breakfast, then a balanced lunch at noon. The lunchroom division of the Texas Education Agency through much study has set up a pattern for proper nutrition on a school lunch—this is called a "Type A" lunch, which provides one-third of their daily diet need. A Type A lunch is set up for a 10 to 12 year old youngster and can be proportioned accordingly to age over and above.

This includes:

1. 1/2 pint of whole milk as a beverage.
2. 2 oz. of lean meat, fish or poultry, or a meat substitute of 2 oz. of cheese or 1 whole egg, 1/2 cup dried beans or peas, or 4 teaspoons of peanut butter.

3. 3/4 cups of vegetables and/or fruit.

4. 1 slice of bread or a serving of rolls or cornbread.

5. 2 teaspoons of butter or margarine.

De Leon Man Elected To Peanut Association Prexy

E. A. Walker of De Leon was elected president of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association Board of Directors in a recent meeting of the board. He served as vice-president during the year just ended.

Walker has been a member of the Association board for three years. He was re-elected in July by the peanut growers of District No. 1 to a second term. The district he represents is composed of 30 counties in Central Texas including the major producing counties of Comanche, Erath, San Saba, Mason and Bastrop. There are some 2,000 producer members of SWPGA in the district.

Walker has been instrumental the past two years in the campaign to get unused peanut acres released in Comanche County so that farmers desiring additional acreage could get temporary increases. This program has been highly successful in Comanche County. He was also active in the successful effort this year to get the price on 1960 crop peanuts increased.

Walker reports that the Association had a very good year in handling its portion of 1959 crop peanuts. He states that the Association was able to sell to the shellers some 19,480 tons of peanuts which were placed in loan by area growers. As a result of these sales, the Association has declared dividends of $3.54 per ton to growers placing 1959 crop peanuts in loan. Also, the Association will pay to growers placing peanuts in Association loan in 1955 the remainder due them, which is approximately $65,000, or $1.30 per ton. He states also that the Association will make warehouse loans to growers again this year throughout the Southwest area.

Walker is currently producing some 400 acres of peanuts in the De Leon and Rock Bluff communities. He is also very successful in the production of fruit and pecans.

Other Association officers for this year are Jesse Leach of Holdenville, Oklahoma, vice president and D. B. Warren of Gorman, secretary-treasurer.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1960.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 39
Proposing an amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding thereto new Sections to be known as Sections 6, 7, and 8, to provide that the Legislature may authorize the creation of Hospital Districts co-extensive with Lamar County, Hidalgo County, and County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, having certain stated powers and duties and subject to certain stated limitations; providing that any enabling Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character; providing for an election; prescribing the form of ballot and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas be, and the same is hereby, amended by adding the following Sections which shall read as follows:

"Section 6. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar County, having the powers and duties and with the limitations presently provided in Article IX, Section 6(a), of the Constitution of Texas, as it applies to Wichita County, except that the maximum rate of tax that the said Lamar County Hospital District may be authorized to levy shall be seventy-five cents (75c) per One Hundred Dollars ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District, subject to district taxation.

"Section 7. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District co-extensive with Hidalgo County, having the powers and duties and with the limitations presently provided in Article IX, Section 6(a), of the Constitution of Texas, as it applies to Hidalgo County, except that the maximum rate of tax that the said Hidalgo County Hospital District may be authorized to levy shall be ten cents (10c) per One Hundred Dollars ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District subject to district taxation.

"If such District is created, it may be authorized to levy a tax not to exceed seventy-five cents (75c) on the One Hundred Dollars ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District; provided, however, no tax may be levied until approved by a majority vote of the participating resident qualified property taxing voters who have duly rendered their property for taxation. "FOR the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to create a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar and Hidalgo Counties, and co-extensive with Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County."

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to create a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar and Hidalgo Counties, and co-extensive with Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County."
